

What Other Editors Have To Say

AN EDUCATED FOOL

In reading of B. J. Mithlethaler's embezzlement of $3,000—of the bank funds while acting as a state appointed conservator proves that an educated fool can be a bigger fool than the fool that is born that way. Born and reared in a good home, given every privilege of schooling, and put in trust of a bank he steals a measly $3,000, goes on a jaunt and is caught down in New Jersey, thus disgracing himself for life, not to mention the anguish of heart every relative must endure. Can you picture a bigger fool than he is?—The Linden Leader.

THE GREAT DIVIDE

There has been a demand for Socialistic government in the United States. The majority of the people thought it would not work. The leaders of the Socialist party claim that N.R.A. shall not be successful. The fact is, the experiment is worth trying and ought to be illuminating as to the practicability of Socialist claims and tendencies. Somewhere between mass irresponsibility in Russia and the autocracy of wealth in America there ought to be a middle ground of justice out of which shall flow human happiness.—Hon. Chase S. Osborn.

What a change in the attitude in Chicago toward gangsters and their associated elements. Convictions on many sorts of criminal charges are actually being had in the courts on evidence which a few weeks ago would have given any judge plenty of opportunity to throw the case out of court. The courts have sensed this new attitude and are cooperating. Juries all at once feel secure in voting convictions. For a change the law seems on the side of the public instead of the criminal. Let us hope it continues.—Rogers City Advance.

WHAT GOOD IS IT?

Saving is often done by wise spending. The selfish hoarder may save money but what good is it if he starves his body and soul for the provisions each should have. Judicial spending for life's essentials will help rather than hinder you.—J. E. McMullen in The Linden Leader.

Senator H. C. Glasner as the principal speaker at a democratic banquet at Bancroft Friday night, made some pertinent observations on state affairs. He would abandon forthwith the securities and utilities commission on the ground that both departments have demonstrated their unfitness; he favors reducing the sales tax to 2% plus a graduated income tax; would pay from this money $400 toward the wages of every public school teacher in Michigan; favors a $1.00 motor car license on the ground that the operating vehicle would be paying a gas tax and as such is worth more to the state than an idle car. Pretty sound platform.—Charlotte Republican.

Court Continues Warner Cases To Monday

CIRCUIT COURT TERM IS BRIEF

The October term of Circuit court was very short, most of the cases being put over to later terms.

The cases of Jess and Clayton Warner, of Frederic, charged with assault with attempt to commit murder, were continued to next Monday afternoon. It is understood that these men will plead guilty at that time and that they will be represented in court by Attorney Clink of East Jordan, to intercede before the Court in their behalf. This is a case in which these men blocked attempts to construct a highway in front of their farm at the place known as the "Indian Farm" northwest of Frederic. Workmen were confronted by the accused, armed with shotguns. And when Sheriff Bennett attempted to intercede he too was met by armed resistance. On the face of this affair it looks very serious and would involve a severe prison sentence. And there seems to be some question as to the sanity of the elder Warner, who is father of the younger man.

The cases of Bert Confer and Orel Levan, for violation of the prohibition law, were continued to the January term.

The case of Ernest John estate, appeal from Probate court, was continued to the April term of court.

The civil case of Zacek vs. the M. C. R. R. Co., in claim for liability over the loss of Joseph Zacek who was killed by a M. C. train about a year ago last summer, was settled out of court. The terms of the settlement were not made known.

The cases of the creditors of the defunct Bank of Grayling vs. Marius Hanson, were continued to the January term.

The injunction case of Royal A. Wright et al vs. George M. Colleen, was continued to the January term.

The divorce case of Laura Louise Darroch vs. George B. J. Darroch was continued to the January term.

A decree was granted in the divorce case of Ruth B. Ward vs. Herbert W. Ward.

With the expected plea of guilty by the Warners, and with permission by Attorney Elmer G. Smith of Gaylord, counsel in the Ernest John case for postponement, it was possible to do away with a jury at this term of court. Therefore Court Clerk Axel Peterson and Sheriff Bennett officially notified the jurors for the term panel not to report. This saved the county considerable expense.

Court adjourned Tuesday afternoon.

Personality

Personality is not all in giving the qualities one has to the world, but rests a great deal in its ability to respond and be interested in the other fellow's problem. The person who has sympathy and understanding cannot help but be a gracious kindly soul with charm and warmth that we call personality.

BLUE EAGLE PLEDGE

I Promise:

By H. I. Phillips

1. To support the code and cut the arguments.
2. To give the iron ear to the fellow who has all those reasons why it won't work.
3. To remember that we are in war, and that if it was all right for the government to ask a few million boys to give their lives to settle a disturbance in Europe it must be fairly reasonable to request a few million merchants to endure a little discomfort for the common good.
4. To bear in mind that, after all, this time Uncle Sam is not asking me to leave my home and my family and show a machine gun squad I can take it.
5. To realize that patriotism is patriotism, even when there are no bugs.
6. To regard the Blue Eagle as a Blue Eagle and not a Chisel-beaked Woodpecker.
7. To remember that I have an obligation to do something more than stick a picture of a bird in a front window.
8. To realize that the slogan is "We Do Our Part" and not "We Dupe Our Partner."
9. To develop a rousing hatred of trickery, chiseling and the old run-around.
10. To have not time for the fellow who would rather obstruct a plan that might cost him a $500-a-year loss than to support a plan that would enable ten million people to eat regularly.
11. To stop talking about "interference with natural economic laws," "inevitable business cycles," etc., and to realize that nobody ever got a wrecked truck out of a ditch by citing precedents.
12. To remember that we were all demanding action—and that finally we got it.
13. To realize when in a critical mood toward Little Nira that nobody has suggested a better plan for quick action.
14. To be willing to take it on the nose for a year (if absolutely necessary) to cure a national headache.
15. To keep ever foremost in mind, when talking about the sacrifice being asked of me, that, after all, I'm not asked to put on a uniform, go to Europe, dodge shrapnel, sleep in the mud and get what comfort I can out of the fact that a girl named Nellie is knitting me a pair of socks.
16. To work more and talk less, always realizing that it is impossible to pull a drowning man out of a well by throwing him a plate of bologna.
17. To remember that the only difference between a slacker in this crisis and a slacker in the World War is that the slacker in the World War had more good reason for being scared stiff.
18. To remember that we were all shouting for "a President who would do something!"

Washington, Oct. 10.—The military bureau of the War Department today was allotted $2,100,460 for construction, improvements and repairs to National Guard camps throughout the country. The allotments include one of $54,700 for Camp Grayling in Michigan.

Winter Sports Now Assured

At a meeting of the Winter Sports organization, which was held last Monday evening at the Shoppensons Inn, the following eleven men were elected to act as a board of directors: Holger Peterson, E. S. Chalker, Dr. G. G. Clippert, Harry Reynolds, E. J. Olson, Richard Lovely, P. W. Christenson, Elmer Slavens, E. L. Sparkes, Wilfred Laurant, and Roy Milnes. These men will head the events for the 1934 Winter Sports Carnival.

The carnival is an annual event, and not only is it a sparkling event for the town people, but it draws crowds for a radius of many miles. Each year it grows to be a bigger thing. Last year it was a larger thing than the year before, even though the weather conditions were not as favorable as they might have been. And this year it is hoped that the carnival can be planned so that the weather will jibe and be a bigger success than ever before.

Improvements were planned at the meeting, whereby the take-off of the toboggan slide will be rebuilt by George Burke, and Thos. Cassidy is having the route to and from the park designated by a series of new signs. Pines and shrubs of the evergreen variety will be planted, making the sports site a veritable winter park.

The meeting was well attended by the citizens who stood ready to do their part in making the carnival of 1934 a success.

Chas. Webb Injured In Auto Accident

Charles Webb, local health officer for the Children's Fund of Michigan, lies in a serious condition in Mercy Hospital with injuries sustained Sunday in an automobile accident. The Webb family are living in the Randolph cottage at Lake Margrethe and while driving to town Sunday morning he met with the accident. Two members of the Camp Higgins CCC coming along the highway noticed the car jammed against a tree. They quickly ran to the machine and found Mr. Webb unconscious and it was necessary for them to pry the car door open to release the injured man.

He was taken to Mercy Hospital, where it was found he suffered severe injuries to his head and face. Although he is getting along nicely his injuries are very serious and at first little hopes were held for him, but latest reports say he is getting along nicely. However he has not been able to tell just how the accident happened.

Bid For Construction For Camp Higgins

The commanding officer of Camp Higgins announces that he will receive bids for the construction of Camp Higgins' winter quarters up to and until 12:00 o'clock noon, October 20th, at Grayling, Mich. Bids will be opened at 2:00 p. m. of the same day. Camp Higgins is located on the western end of National Guard Camp.

The structures will be located about mid-way between Grayling and Roscommon on U. S. 27. It will consist of the following buildings:

- 6 barracks buildings, size 20 x 112 feet.
- Kitchen and mess building, 20 x 144 feet.
- 1 headquarters building, 20 x 48 feet.
- 1 storehouse, 20 x 56 feet.
- 1 first-aid building, 20 x 32 feet.
- 1 bath house, 20 x 56 feet.
- 1 pump house, 20 x 16 feet.
- 2 latrines, 8 x 18 feet.
- 1 garage (size unknown).

Plans and specifications may be obtained by calling on the Commanding Officer of Camp Higgins in person, at Camp Grayling, Mich.

Returns Huge Beer Fund To Counties

VILLAGE GETS $578.55 FROM STATE LIQUOR COM.

$578.55 was added to the Village treasury this week through a voucher from the State Liquor Control Commission. This represents 95% of the fees paid by beer license holders in Grayling. Under the provisions of the state beer act this percentage of all license fees is returned to the community from which they come.

In forwarding the voucher, Wm. J. Nagel, Managing Director of the Commission, pointed out that the people of the state, through reduction in state taxes, derive revenue from the excise stamps on legal beer, in addition to the license fees paid by retailers and wholesalers. "Every bottle of illegal beer deprives the state of badly needed revenue," Nagel said.

He also called attention to the fact that the sale of beer by unlicensed vendors works a hardship on those who have paid the state for a license. Nagel asked the co-operation of local officials and the public generally in preventing the manufacture and sale of illegal beverages.

Grayling twp. received $95.00. Frederic twp. received $95.00.

Vouchers representing their share of $900,000 retail beer sale license money, are being sent to 1000 Michigan communities this week by the State Liquor Control Commission.

The $900,000 figures represents 95 percent of the amount of retail license fees collected by the commission up to September 1st. The remaining five percent goes toward paying the expenses of the commission.

Where the commission is required to send only three months receipts, it was decided to include August returns on account of many of the communities to receive them were hard pressed for funds.

In forwarding the vouchers, William J. Nagel, Managing Director of the commission, pointed out that through increased receipts from all beer revenue sources the citizens of the states are benefitted in general tax reduction in addition to the retail license fees. He urged all communities to cooperate in preventing the manufacturing and sale of illegal beer, thereby increasing the sale of Beer Tax Stamps and increasing the revenue to the State.

The gross revenue received to date from all beer revenue sources is a little in excess of $2,000,000. The state gets in excess of a half million dollars for the general fund. It is estimated that by April 1st, 1934, the general fund of the state will receive approximately $1,500,000 for the first year of legal beer since prohibition out of an estimated $3,000,000 in gross revenue. The major portion of the balance going to the cities, townships and communities where the license originates.

The amount which will be paid into the general fund is a little below the original estimate. This is accounted for somewhat through the commissioner's care in licensing breweries and distributing agencies. Where the state is allowed 64 breweries under the new beer law, only 42 have been established and operated. Eight more are listed for licenses.

College of Surgeons Approve Mercy Hosp'l

HOSPITALS ARE VITAL FORCE IN RECOVERY PROGRAM, SAYS EMINENT SURGEON

Sister Mary Stella, superior of Grayling Mercy Hospital, is happy over an official notification from the director of the American College of Surgeons saying that Grayling Mercy hospital had been placed upon the approved list.

The Michigan list shows 70 approved hospitals in the state. Mercy hospitals at Grayling and at Cadillac are the only approved ones in lower Michigan north of Bay City. The high standard of requirements eliminate a great many hospitals from the list approved by the American College of Surgeons.

"The most vital force necessary for the carrying out of our program of national recovery is the health of our people," declares Dr. Franklin H. Martin, director-general of the American College of Surgeons, outstanding international association of more than ten thousand eminent surgeons, which is holding its twenty-third annual Clinical Congress in Chicago this week.

"If we want recovery we must have health," says Dr. Martin. "There can be no recovery if our people are sick. The healthier they are the speedier our recovery. Therefore, it is absolutely necessary that the health of the public be protected. In this protection there is no more effective fortress than the modern, approved hospital, which has demonstrated its fine humanitarian qualities during the past four years of the depression by providing competent care for all classes whether they could pay for it or not."

"Just as the economic recovery of our nation is dependent upon health, so is health dependent upon the medical profession and the hospital. It is, therefore very gratifying to know that so many hospitals in this country are meeting the requirements of the American College of Surgeons which provide safe and adequate care for the patient."

"The American College of Surgeons announces its Approved List every year," Dr. Martin explains, "for the information of the public so that when one becomes ill and requires hospitalization he can choose a hospital which is capable of providing safe and efficient care."

American Foresters To Visit Grayling

Supt. P. G. Zalsman of Grayling Trout hatchery is in receipt of a letter from the State Department of Conservation that reads as follows:

P. G. Zalsman, Supt.
Grayling Trout Hatchery,
Grayling, Mich.:

We are informed that the Ohio Valley section of the society of American Foresters, will hold a meeting in the vicinity of Roscommon on Friday, October 13th. We understand that this group plans to visit the Grayling Fish Hatchery at that time and hope that you will put forth every effort to make their visit an interesting and profitable one.

Very truly yours,
Department of Conservation,
A. B. Cook, Jr.,
Supervisor of Fisheries operations.

It certainly will be a favor to have members of such a distinguished organization visit our places of interest. If they are interested in fish hatcheries, and apparently they are, they will find here one of the most efficient trout hatcheries to be found anywhere in the country. They should also visit the Hartwick Memorial Pines Park while in this vicinity and see our virgin pine forest, all in one compact area of about 80 acres.

An effort is being made by the officers of Crawford County Chamber of Commerce to get into touch with the parties and arrange to show them some of the most prominent attractions that may be found in the county. Visitors are always assured of a cordial welcome at Grayling.

Mrs. Wm. Neal Passed Away

Mrs. William Neal, who had been a well known and highly esteemed resident of Grayling for the past 44 years, passed away at her home last Friday morning from a heart attack. Although Mrs. Neal had been in ill health for a long time her demise came very unexpected. She was taken suddenly ill Thursday night and passed away the following morning at 7:45 o'clock with all the members of her family at her bedside, except her sister Mrs. Sarah Milne.

Mrs. Neal, who was formerly Ella Duell was 58 years old. She came to Grayling when she was 14 years old from AuSable, Mich., where she was born. Soon after coming here she was united in marriage to Eugene McKay and Mr. and Mrs. McKay operated the hostelry known as the McKay House for a long number of years. Mr. McKay passed away in 1903 and shortly after that she disposed of the hotel business, and in 1904 was united in marriage to William Neal. Mrs. Neal was a loyal homemaker and most of her time was spent in her home. She was loved by her neighbors and friends of which there were many, for her kindness and generosity were without limit.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Michelson Memorial church with Rev. H. J. Salmon officiating. Mrs. Harold Jarmin and Mrs. Roy Milne sang a duet "The Lord's Prayer," and the latter sang "My Task." The deceased was a member of the W. B. A. and several of that organization attended the last rites.

The deceased is survived by her husband, her son Patsy McKay, and two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Milne and Mrs. Joe Smith, all of Grayling.

Those from out of town attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. August Kozinski, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald House, Mrs. John Stover, Detroit; Joe LaBeef, Mrs. Wm. Robinson, Saginaw; Mr. and Mrs. George Lutenbacher, St. Charles; Mr. and Mrs. August Marion and two sons, Harold and William, Miss Hazel Gregg, Miss Bernice Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Borrowes, of Bay City; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Welch and daughters, Clarice, Ila and Caroline, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Welch, of Frederic.

The remaining members of the family have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

State's Cement Plant Now Sold

PLANT COSTING STATE A MILLION DOLLARS SOLD FOR $30,000

The Chelsea cement plant which has cost the state more than $1,000,000 since its purchase during the administration of former Governor Groesbeck is to be sold for a mere $30,000.

A resolution recommending that the offer of Joseph E. Zilk of Ann Arbor be accepted was passed by the purchasing committee of the state administrative board. The board, except on rare occasions, has followed the recommendations of its committees.

Zilk said that he intends to use the plant in the manufacture of fertilizer.

It was bought by the Groesbeck administration at a time when the former governor thought that a cement combine was forcing the state to pay an exorbitant price for road materials. The initial price was $600,000 and since then the state added improvements which have brought the total investment, plus a persistent operating cost, to more than $1,000,000.

Demand for the sale of the plant has been constant in recent years and promise that such action would be taken was one of the chief planks in the campaign platform of former Governor Green.

At the 1931 session of the legislature an act was passed instructing the administrative board to dispose of the property before next year.

VIRGINIA fell into line for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment. The wets won by something like 2 to 1. Fifteen of the 100 counties went dry, as did the cities of Danville and Radford. The Old Dominion was the thirty-second state enrolled against prohibition.

D BATH took two well-known figures in the world of sports. W. L. ("Young") Stribling, Georgia boxer who had been a contender for the heavyweight title, was fatally injured in an automobile accident, falling to recover after the amputation of one leg. William L. Vesce, president of the Chicago National League Baseball club, died of leucocythemia.

WHEN HUNTIN' SEASON'S HERE.

"When the willows by the river turn to yellow in the fall, and from the dark and cloudy sky I hear the wild goose call; 'tis then I get the wanderlust and tho I should stay home, Dame Nature's callin' to her child and urg'n' me to roam, and I stroll out thru the woodlot to the meadows brown and sere; then I know what makes me restless—why, the huntin' season's here.

"My dog, he seems to understand and follows me around. It seems we're sorta kindred souls—me and that flea-bit hound! His big brown eyes look up at me in a wistful sorta way—he's coaxing me—that lousy pup, but I can't go today. There's work to do at home I know, and I'll do it, never fear, but a guy gets kinda restless when huntin' time is here.

"O, what's the use of workin' when the woods are gold and brown. I've just GOT to go a huntin' when the autumn rolls around! The very air seems fresher and the blue lake thru the haze is callin' me to come and hunt, in a thousand little ways. Don't seem to make no difference—it's the same way every year—a feller simply can't stay at home when the huntin' season's here.

"O, you can have your palaces and other worldly goods. I'll take a pal and rifle and a shack up in the woods. Just a place to forget your daily tasks with Nature at her best; just a cozy little cabin where one can go to hunt and rest. And when St. Peter calls me, I'll hear him never fear, if he calls me with a birchbark horn, when the huntin' season's here!"

BUDGETS FOR DEVELOPMENT BUREAU AND E. M. T. ASS'N.

Editorial, Ogemaw County Herald.

Much has been said in the past regarding budgets for the Northeastern Michigan Development Bureau and the East Michigan Tourist Association and as a rule the members in annual meeting assembled have approved such budgets as have been submitted, but as regularly failed to raise them.

From all indications Northeastern Michigan now has an opportunity to "cash in" on the efforts of the past 20 years and to gain materially on its competitors.

Experience has shown us that other sections of the district, known as East Michigan, have contributed rather generously toward the advertising funds but have been reluctant toward the overhead necessary to maintain the organization.

It is believed that if Northeastern Michigan would underwrite the expense of the organization and guarantee sufficient working capital to inaugurate the initial advertising campaign, other sections of the district could be induced to more generously contribute toward the funds to be used directly in advertising, publicity and general promotion work.

In order to place the two Associations in a position to function with the assurance of efficiency it is proposed that a budget of $21,400 be raised in Northeastern Michigan. Each county to guarantee thru a committee of public spirited citizens the sum allocated to that county.

Predicated on the valuations of the various counties concerned and the benefits derived from the efforts of the Associations the following schedule of amounts to be raised in each county would approximately cover the budget:

Alcona County.....$ 500.00	Iosco County.....1,500.00
Alpena County.....1,500.00	Midland County.....500.00
Arenac County.....400.00	Montmorency.....900.00
Bay County.....6,000.00	Ogemaw County.....800.00
Cheboygan County.....1,500.00	Oscoda County.....300.00
Clare County.....500.00	Otsego County.....500.00
Crawford County.....400.00	Presque Isle.....800.00
Gladwin County.....400.00	Roscommon County.....500.00
Saginaw County.....5,000.00	Total.....$21,400.00

From all indications it will be a difficult task for the Associations to raise funds thru the usual channels, i. e., the Boards of Supervisors and individual memberships where sole dependence for contacts is left to the Secretary-Treasurer. If Northeastern Michigan is to present a solid front it will be necessary that more cooperation be given the Secretary-Treasurer by public spirited citizens who appreciate the value of the work of the Associations.

In each county a Committee should be created which will take unto itself the task of raising and turning over to the Associations the amount of the budget allocated to the individual county. This committee will evolve the sources of the funds, make the necessary contacts and collect the monies to meet the county's budget.

Satisfactory arrangements could be made for the spreading of the collections in such a manner as may be most satisfactory to the contributors, i. e., monthly, quarterly or semi-annually.

Such a method and guarantee would make it possible for the Executive Officer of the Associations to devote his time to the interests of the promotional work of the Associations and free him to further develop sources of funds from without Northeastern Michigan.

It is appreciated that considerable preliminary work will have to be done in the individual counties in developing the necessary committees which will carry thru and deliver funds to the Associations. However, the procedure has been repeatedly and effectively demonstrated in the cases of strictly local enterprises, and with the proper stimulus can be affected in the interest of the Associations.

Never before was there greater need for progressive action on the part of Northeastern Michigan; never before was there greater need for constructive advertising of the district's natural and recreational advantages; never before were the district's competitors in a weaker position to meet Northeastern Michigan's aggressiveness—and NOW IS THE TIME FOR ACTION!

President Roosevelt Addresses American Legion Convention in Chicago—Direct Federal Aid for the Needy Is Planned.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT made a hurried trip to Chicago and delivered a stirring speech at the opening session of the American Legion convention. Wildly cheered by vast throngs of citizens on his arrival in the city the President sped to the Stadium and before 80,000 veterans made his appeal for full support of his efforts to bring about national recovery, and for national unity and safety and credit. Mr. Roosevelt said in part:

"Industry cannot be restored, people cannot be put back to work, banks cannot be kept open, human suffering cannot be cared for, if the government itself is bankrupt. We realize now that the great human values, not for you alone, but for all American citizens, rest upon the unimpaired credit of the United States.

"It was because of this that we undertook to take the national treasury out of the red and put it into the black. And in the doing of it we laid down two principles which directly affected benefits to veterans—to you, and to the veterans of other wars.

"The first principle, following inevitably from the obligation of citizens to bear arms, is that the government has a responsibility for and toward those who suffered injury or contracted disease while serving in its defense.

"The second principle is that no person, because he wore a uniform, must thereafter be placed in a special class of beneficiaries over and above all other citizens. The fact of wearing a uniform does not mean that he can demand from the government a benefit which no other citizen receives! It does not mean that because a person served in the defense of his country, performed a basic obligation of citizenship, he should receive a pension from his government because of a disability incurred after his service had terminated, and not connected with that service.

"It does mean, however, that those who were injured in or as a result of their service, are entitled to receive adequate and generous compensation for their disabilities. It does mean that generous care shall be extended to the dependents of those who died in or as a result of service to their country.

"To carry out these principles, the people of this country can and will pay in taxes the sums which it is necessary to raise. To carry out these principles will not bankrupt your government nor throw its bookkeeping into the red."

ON HIS way to Chicago President Roosevelt came to final decision as to direct federal aid for the jobless during the coming winter, assuming that the plan would be speedily worked out in co-operation with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and George Peek, agricultural adjustment administrator. The action to be taken will practically establish the role in the United States.

The immediate object of course is to avert suffering. But the plan has the secondary purpose of the utilization of the great surpluses of food, fuel and clothing. These things will be purchased by the government with the fund not yet allocated, and congress will be asked to appropriate more if necessary. The announcement by Stephen Early, the President's secretary, said in part:

"The President announced he has instructed Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, to take the leadership in prompt organization of a non-profit corporation, of which Mr. Hopkins is to become chairman, for the purpose of buying the necessities of life and distributing them among the needy unemployed. . . .

"In order to assure speed and effectiveness in the movement of huge supplies, the President has directed not only that the corporation be equipped with adequate funds, but also that it should be given wide powers in the purchasing and distribution of surplus foods and other commodities.

"The President believes the corporation can be organized quickly and in such manner as to become the best agent for decisive action in the emergency.

"Mr. Hopkins has canvassed with the President the relief situation in the country as a whole. The President is convinced that in many states relief allowances now made by state and municipal authorities are far from adequate and must be substantially increased as rapidly as possible.

"The President asserted that while farmers' buying power has increased to an encouraging degree, agricultural prices still remain substantially below the level needed to hasten the country on the road to economic recovery.

"The new effort worked out by Mr. Hopkins and Secretary Wallace to make maximum use of surpluses that have been burdening the commodity markets, is part of intensified plans to raise farm prices to economic levels. The agricultural administration's efforts to control production of surpluses too great to be used are to be continued.

"The corporation will have power to purchase directly from farmers, whenever desirable, in such a way as to carry out the purposes of the agricultural adjustment act."

CHICAGO was in the possession of the American Legion and the veterans had a joyous time in their convention and all its associated doings and especially at the World's Fair. The Forty and Eight, fun-making organization of the Legion, held its torch-light parade the opening night, and the following day the Legion staged one of the greatest parades ever seen in this country. For many hours the

Edward A. Hayes

"Boys" marched down Michigan avenue, through Soldier field and back through Grant park to the disbanding point. In the line were about six hundred musical organizations and drill teams.

In its serious sessions the Legion convention elected Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, Ill., national commander, and adopted various resolutions that supported the policies of the Roosevelt administration. Mr. Hayes, a past commander of the Illinois department, had a great deal to do with the formation of the "four-front" program designed to conciliate differences between the Legion and the national administration concerning expenditures for veterans' relief.

ENGELBERT DOLLFUS, chancellor of Austria, barely escaped death at the hands of an assassin in Vienna. One Rudolf Dertill, a recent arrival from Styria, fired twice at the little statesman, one bullet hitting him in the arm and the other glancing from a coat button. Naturally the authorities immediately declared this was part of a Nazi plot, but they were unable to show that Dertill was a Nazi. Anyhow, the attempt on his life strengthened the chancellor's position and made him a hero in the eyes of the public.

Dollfuss plans the establishment of a state that is a compromise between Fascism and democracy, and this does not suit many of his friends, notably Prince Starheimberg, leader of the Heimwehr. The prince wants Italian Fascism for Austria, but he was forced to postpone action until the chancellor should recover from his wound.

GRIFITH park forest preserve at Los Angeles was the scene of a terrible holocaust in which at least 27 men met death, and the victims may have numbered fifty or more. The men, relief roll workers, had been ordered to put out a small brush fire and in their ignorance of proper methods started a back fire that trap d many of them in a ravine. At least that was one explanation. Another theory was that the fatal conflagration was started by a carelessly thrown cigarette. The flames swept through the woods, dried out by a long spell of hot weather, and the panic-stricken men lost all sense of direction in the dense smoke. Two hundred or more were taken to hospitals badly burned or suffering from suffocation.

INTENT on gaining from the NRA the greatest possible advantage for organized labor, the American Federation of Labor opened its annual convention in Washington. In a preliminary statement President Green said that the enactment of the national recovery act the federation had increased its membership by 1,000,000, the total being now approximately 4,000,000. Nailed to the masthead of the federation, Mr. Green said, is the slogan: "Organize the unorganized in the mass production industries" with a membership of 10,000,000 as the next goal, and after that 20,000,000, "which will bring the majority of Americans genuinely and actually within the trade union family."

Among the important pronouncements of policy and recommendations for action placed before the delegates by the executive council were:

1. The 80-hour week of five days' work, six hours a day.
2. Increase of minimum wages provided in the codes.
3. Increase of wages for skilled workers, as well as unskilled.
4. Representation of labor in every stage of code making.
5. Public works must be speeded up to supply work this winter to large masses of idle.
6. Congress, upon convening, must provide adequate relief appropriations.
7. The surplus agricultural products must be made available for distribution to the unemployed.
8. Taxation for relief must be provided by fair contributions from higher incomes and surplus profits.
9. Labor must have relief excessively stringent federal economy measures.

DISCUSSIONS of the British war debt to the United States were opened in Washington and, much to the surprise of the public, were turned over to the Treasury department by Secretary of State Hull, the announcement being that the matter was being treated as purely a financial problem. The administration designated Dean Acheson, undersecretary of the treasury, to handle its part in the affair, and he was aided by Frederick Livesey, who is an associate economic adviser of the State department. For the British government appeared Sir Frederick Leith-Ross and T. K. Bewley. The question at issue was: How much, if at all, shall the United States reduce the British war debt, funded in 1923 for $4,000,000?

AMERICAN intervention in Cuba was brought appreciably nearer by a bloody all-day battle that took place between the 500 re-calcitrant army and navy officers who had been beleaguered in the National hotel and the troops of President Grau. The hotel was bombarded until late afternoon with rifles, machine guns and cannon and the government said 18 of the officers were killed and 17 wounded which probably was an underestimate. The losses among the soldiers were officially stated to be 9 killed and 27 wounded. Correspondents said the total dead in the day's fighting numbered at least 44. Among the non-combatants killed was Robert Lotsepelch, an American, assistant manager in Havana for Swift & Co.

When the hotel, which is owned and managed by Americans, was practically wrecked by shell fire, the officers surrendered. As they emerged under a white flag, unarmed and under guard of soldiers, they were again attacked and a number of them massacred. Apartment buildings near the hotel, in which many Americans resided, were frequently hit by machine gun bullets and shells from the Cuban cruiser Patria.

Flat money is paper money which is made legal tender without gold or silver or any security except the credit of the nation back of it. The United States treasury has no authority to issue flat money under existing laws.

Styles In Advertising

There are styles in advertising the same as in clothing. The advertising of certain products demand a certain style of advertising. Obviously the typography of an advertisement for lingerie could not possibly be the same as that for a boiler shop; type and layout must be in keeping in both styles. Then there are passive and aggressive educational styles of advertising, each adapted to its own particular subject matter.

As in everything else advertising requires thought and it usually pays dividends in proportion to the thought devoted to its proper preparation. Haphazard advertising is apt to bring haphazard results. Let us help you in the preparation of proper advertising for your particular business. If advertising does not have pulling power, we lose as well as you do.

Personnel involved in the withdrawal of the marines from Haiti on October 1, 1934, will total 54 officers and 774 enlisted men.

Some 390 aircraft will be required for the 32 vessels to be built under the new three-year building program, for which the President is reported to have agreed to allocate $9,882,000.

First honors for efficiency engineering recently awarded our cruiser Chicago, brings into leadership a vessel bearing a name which once before was first of a "new Navy". The other Chicago marked the change of the US Navy from sail and wood to steam and steel.

Since the night of April 14, 1912, when the Titanic sank with a loss of 1500 lives, not a single life has been lost through collision with ice along the North Atlantic steamship routes, owing to the good work of our coast guard service.

Now that the contracts have been let to build our Navy to almost Treaty strength by 1938, it seems very probable that the enlisted strength of the Navy will be increased.

The present allowed strength of our navy is 135,000 men, but Congress has only appropriated enough money to employ slightly less than 80,000 men for this fiscal year.

It is very doubtful that 80,000 men can man the navy contemplated in 1938. Thus, an increase is indicated, which will mean more rapid promotion for the entire enlisted force.

Limited promotion of enlisted personnel of the navy will be resumed in October.

The Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral W. M. Standley, has announced that he will urge Congress to repeal the pay freeze, according to the A&N Journal.

Child's Diet Needs "Protective" Foods

SUNLIGHT ALSO REQUIRED FOR VITAMIN D; SOME FOODS SUPPLY IT

(By Mary G. McCormick, Supervisor of Health Teaching, New York State Department of Education)

The child's diet should be based upon the protective foods—milk, vegetables and fruits, and it should also contain foods that supply extra quantities of proteins and carbohydrates, with a little fat.

Proteins can be obtained most satisfactorily from milk, lean meat, fish, eggs, cereals and bread. Make plentiful use of bread in the child's diet. Either white or whole wheat bread may be used—both are good—whole wheat is better. Bread is an inexpensive and economical source of energy and most children like it.

The best desserts are fruits, including ripe bananas (they are ripe when the skins are speckled with brown), apples, peaches, grapes and oranges, and milk puddings such as rice pudding and tapioca pudding. Ice cream, sweet desserts, sugar or candy, are all right; but parents must be careful not to encourage their children to eat too much of the sweet foods, and when permitted, such sweets should only be taken at the end of a meal.

Directly connected with the diet is the question of whether the child has ample time to play in the sunlight. One of the important results of exposing the skin to sunlight is that it develops Vitamin D, the bone and teeth building vitamin, directly in the body. When it is impossible to get plenty of sun, as in the case of school children, this deficiency must be made up in the diet by feeding some food rich in Vitamin D. Among these foods are cod liver oil, irradiated ergosterol, and eggs, particularly the yolk of the egg.

Before he got married he all ways that it tuk 2 to make a quart. Thursday—Ann Kamy says she is certin that Prosperity is coming back, because she understands that a lot of the working People have begun to do a lot of things that they shudent right to do.

FREDERIC AND DEWARD

Margaret Worthey enjoyed chicken dinner with Molly Odell Sunday.

Mrs. Lee Kellogg was rushed to the Grayling Hospital Friday night.

Clutha Johnson and Elsie Weaver were taken to Ann Arbor one day last week, the latter for eye treatment and the former for a tonsil operation.

John Haines had the misfortune to lose a horse, which was struck by lightning during the electrical storm on Saturday, the 30th.

Some of the ladies of Frederic have organized a club, that will be known as the Sunshine club.

The Sunshine club of Frederic which is a branch of the Red Cross, Mrs. A. D. Leng being the chairman, entertained several ladies from Grayling, and officers and members of the various branches of the Red Cross of Crawford county at a County meeting in the dining room in the basement of the Frederic school last Thursday. After the business meeting the club served a delightful lunch. Supt. Roberts, principal McClutchey and teachers of the Frederic school were also included.

The A. D. Leng, William Leng and Albert Lewis families, twelve in all, were entertained at a dinner Friday evening in honor of the 67th birthday anniversary of Mrs. William Sanford. Mrs. Sanford is the mother of the Leng brothers, and Mrs. Albert Lewis and is here from Columbiaville for a visit among relatives.

The Rally Day program at the M. P. church was a great success, and we wish to congratulate all the orators.

People of Frederic welcomed a bright sunny day Tuesday after three days and a half of almost steady rainfall.

Drivers In Michigan Liable To Provisions Of New Law Oct. 17

Michigan motorists after Oct. 17 will be liable to the provisions of the motor vehicle financial responsibility act requiring proof of settlement in cases of accidents.

On that date the act, passed by the 1933 legislature, becomes effective. It does not require that every motorist carry personal liability and property damage insurance. It does stipulate, however, that drivers and owners of vehicles that have an outstanding claim against them from previous accidents must show proof of financial responsibility for any further mishaps.

The new act specifies that motorists who may have killed a person, damaged property to the extent of $300 or violated certain vehicle laws with their automobile must carry liability insurance if they have not settled the prior claims coming under these three distinct heads.

In case a motorist has an accident coming under the new act and does not settle the claim within 30 days his driver's license will be revoked and registration cancelled. The only methods for renewal are by subscribing to liability and property damage insurance or posting collateral, which proves that he can settle any future claims.

Even if a motorist goes through bankruptcy proceedings to evade payment of a claim he cannot operate an automobile on the highways of the state without proving his financial responsibility.

While insurance is the most likely safeguard, motorists may prove their financial responsibility in two other methods. One is by getting the bond of a surety company or property holder and the other is by filing collateral with the state treasurer. The surety bond must be in the amount of $10,000 and the deposit with the state treasurer must total $11,000. If the insurance is subscribed to, the policy must provide $5,000 liability for one person and $10,000 for two persons and $1,000 property damage.

R. track where he had evidently been killed by the evening train from Manistee.

At the sale of state lands at the Court House in this village Tuesday, about 2,000 acres were sold for over $6,000,000. There is now nearly 40,000 acres more largely of good agricultural land, which can be bought for from $3.00 to $15.00 per acre.

Report has reached us that Hubbard Head, one of the pioneers of this county, but now residing just over the line in Roscommon, has been placed on the Democratic Ticket for Representative in Congress from the 11th district. BIRD HUNTERS ASKED TO MAKE TALLY

Michigan bird hunters again are being asked to submit their field observations and hunting results to the Department of Conservation through the use of tally cards.

The tally cards, now being distributed through the upper and lower peninsulas by conservation officers, provide for the listing of information about pheasants, prairie chickens and ruffed grouse.

In past years thousands of hunters have filled out the cards and submitted them to the Lansing office or to a conservation officer. Through the compilations made from these cards, and letters sent in by observers and hunters, the Game Division of the Department is able to obtain a fairly accurate account of the hunting and relative abundance or scarcity of the birds in the various parts of the state.

The cards ask for the hours hunted, birds seen, birds bagged and the number of cock and hen pheasants seen each day of the hunting season.

Those interested are invited to send in additional information or suggestions which may be helpful in understanding the upland bird situation in the state. Those in the upper peninsula, who know the sharp tail grouse well enough to distinguish it clearly from the prairie chicken are especially urged to send in information as to the range and abundance of the sharp tail grouse.

MANY BENEFITS COME FROM FORESTRY WORK

Continued employment of 10,000 men in the civilian conservation corps in Michigan camps through the order of President Roosevelt will materially benefit this State both now and in the future, according to the forestry department at Michigan State College.

Immediate benefits are the employment of men who otherwise would be out of work and who might become a social problem in the cities from which they were recruited. Work done by these men will add to the attractiveness and to the commercial possibilities of the regions in which the camps are situated.

Financial returns from the resort trade in Michigan are large but the College forestry department says that the continued prosperity of Upper Michigan is dependent upon an industry to supplement the recreational riches and that local wood working factories and proper harvesting of timber are best adapted to the natural resources of the region.

Workers in the conservation camps are performing tasks which will assist Michigan in assuring a future supply of timber. The men were not familiar with woods work at first but now have adapted themselves and are giving a good account of themselves. Tree planting, improvement of natural stands, and fire and disease prevention are all insurance of a future timber supply in Michigan.

Tours of the camps made by members of the College forestry staff have shown that the corps members have improved a great deal in morale. Nervous and irritable men who entered the camps are becoming energetic and cheerful and have a real interest in the work they perform.

People living near the camps now seem to be heartily in favor of the work being done and are gratified by the order for the continuation. Local men are employed in most of the camps as foremen.

Sleeping Sickness

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

Encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness, still remains a mystery to the medical profession. The epidemic in St. Louis, which lasted about two months, caused the death of about two hundred persons. Many others suffered from the malady but recovered at least partially. The difficulty seems to be that the disease attacks one without warning, and no one has been able to ascertain exactly how it is contracted. Even the cause still remains a mystery. The germ or virus, or whatever the vital element is through which the disease is communicable, is still undiscovered. Specialists from several of our largest and most important laboratories have labored incessantly upon the task of isolating the germ. If this could be accomplished, an anti-toxin could be made which would arrest the disease. This was accomplished with the dreaded diphtheria and many other diseases which formerly took a heavy toll of life.

The means of transference is thought by some to be the secretions of the throat or nose, others believe that, like yellow fever, it is caused by the bite of the mosquito. Efforts to discover the secret were made by inoculating monkeys with organic matter taken from the bodies of those who had died from the disease. The ultimate value of this experiment has not yet been ascertained. Even though scientists are appalled at their inability to discover the cause, no energy, time or money was spared in their tasks. Much sacrificial work was done and much still remains to be accomplished, if a remedy is to be provided.

The element of heroism was conspicuously present in recent efforts to control the epidemic in St. Louis. The United States public health service issued a bulletin in which was this announcement: "Three unidentified scientists of St. Louis have submitted to bites from mosquitoes that previously had bitten sleeping sickness victims." Here is heroism of the higher order. These men were willing to risk their lives in efforts to discover the cause and cure of the malady. Their names may never be known, but when the remedy is finally announced the world will owe a debt of gratitude which it can never repay. Not self preservation but self-sacrifice is the essence of true heroism.

DEPT. OF STATE

STATE NEWS BULLETIN

The steady decrease in the number of automobiles in use in Michigan since 1929, bears out the contention of Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald that the cost of license plates should be reduced drastically.

On Oct. 1, 1933, there were 67,807 fewer cars and trucks on Michigan highways than in 1929 and 269,326 less than in 1929. Many of these cars are not being operated because the owners are unable to purchase license plates. This is shown by the half-price permits which allowed 1932 plates to be used until Aug. 1. Of the 415,496 motorists who purchased half-price permits, only 343,140, as near as can be ascertained, have been able to purchase 1933 plates.

Revenue from the sale of plates also is decreasing. For the first 10 months of 1933, automobile license revenues amounted to $17,359,262. This is a decrease of $1,232,896 for the same period last year and $4,077,119 less than for the first 10 months of 1929.

The financial responsibility law, which becomes effective next Tuesday, should be studied carefully by every motorist. The act, besides providing that motorists involved in accidents be able to pay damages, also make it compulsory upon the Department of State to suspend all licenses and registrations upon conviction of any of the six major offenses in the motor vehicle operators' license law.

Even though an automobile owner has satisfied the financial requirements of the act, he might still be prohibited from driving because of the mandatory revocation of his license.

Few persons have any accurate idea of the number of different makes of automobiles and trucks that have been manufactured since the automobile was invented. The average guess is 125. Files of the Department of State contain the names of 870 different varieties of automobiles and trucks. These files constitute a permanent record of every motor vehicle licensed to operate in Michigan.

On Oct. 17, 81 of the 270 laws passed by the 1933 legislature will become effective. The remainder become effective as soon as signed by the governor.

PAY TAXES NOW

The wise property owner, who is behind in his tax assessment, will exert every possible effort to pay 1932 delinquent taxes before November 1. Interest and penalties on taxes for last year, amounting to 10%, will be avoided by taking advantage of the legislative act of last spring which waived both interest and penalty if the property owner paid his taxes on or before the time limit set. A moratorium on 1931 taxes, and years prior, was also declared by the legislature. These taxes may be amortized over a ten-year period provided payment is begun before September 1, 1935. County treasurers should be consulted concerning the exact provisions of the act in order to avoid misunderstanding.

NEW York is now enjoying a three-cornered race for the mayoralty, for Joseph V. McKee decided to be an independent candidate against Mayor John Patrick O'Brien, the Democratic nominee, and Fiorello H. La Guardia, the fusion candidate. In his announcement, Mr. McKee said:

"I refused to enter the Democratic primaries because I felt that to do so would mark me as a tool of the machine, and that would prevent my doing the job that must be done to restore our city government. "There is no real fusion in this campaign. The so-called fusion standard bearer is as objectionable to the solid element of our Republican citizenry as he is to the vast army of Democrats who are disgusted with machine politics. The present standard bearer of the alleged fusion is a poor compromise by a faction of would-be bosses."

MICHIGAN JOINS OTHER STATES IN PROTECTING THE PUBLIC FROM UNCOLLECTIBLE MOTOR OWNERS

At midnight, October 16th, Michigan's new motor law goes into effect and at that time will be put on those motorists and motor owners who carefree and without responsibility injure and wreck but never pay.

This new law in Michigan not by any means a new law. Michigan has simply, somewhat tardily, followed twenty other states and six of the provinces of Canada. Most of the big motor registration states in America have exactly the same law. New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California and others. It is estimated that 75% of all the motorists in the United States now drive under this or a similar statute.

This financial responsibility law is founded upon the simple proposition long incorporated in both civil and criminal law, that no person has the right to negligently injure another person's body or property without providing help and compensation to the injured person or owner. The purpose of the law, of course, is to compensate the injured by forced financial responsibility of the owner and driver. Further, its purpose is one of safety for it is conceived and has been proven in other states that those motor owners who drive without ability to pay judgments, have a natural fear of being barred from the road and in consequence they drive more carefully.

There is nothing new in the law insofar as placing the responsibility is concerned. All the old laws are still effective that have to do with securing a judgment against the accident maker, but in addition, this new law removes the driver and the car of the owner who will not pay—removes them from the highways forever and under certain other conditions makes the drivers and owners put up security for their future conduct. Almost everyone knows that regardless of the old laws, thousands of owners and drivers of automobiles went gayly on their way after judgments were rendered against them. There was no way of making the uncollectible accident maker pay for damages done and no way of stopping him from going out and doing it all over again and again to other unfortunate victims. The new law, however, provides a means of stopping his future use of the highways. It is not compulsory insurance. It is, however, compulsory payment of judgment or its drastic penalties become effective.

The principle provisions of the law are as follows:

The operator's or chauffeur's license and all of the registration certificates and car license plates of any resident of Michigan (person, firm or corporation) shall be immediately suspended by the Secretary of State upon receipt by him of a certified copy of any final judgment or judgments rendered by any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States or the Dominion of Canada for damages on account of personal injury, including death, or damage to property in excess of $300 as a result of an automobile accident occurring after this judgment becomes effective, which judgment has remained unsatisfied for thirty days, and such licenses and certificates shall remain suspended until such judgment or judgments are satisfied and proof of financial responsibility for future accidents shall have been filed.

This part of the law means that any person, firm or corporation owning or driving a car who has a final judgment against them for personal injuries or property damage within the law, must pay that judgment within thirty days or he cannot drive or own an automobile in Michigan. It means that this provision is permanent—he is forever forbidden the use of highways as a driver or owner unless he satisfies the judgment up to $5,000 for injuring one person, or $10,000 for injuring more than one person, or for property damage for any amount between $300 and $1,000. It revokes not only the license of the car in the accident but revokes the licenses on all cars owned. Bankruptcy does not effect this penalty, even though the motorist may discharge his debts by going bankrupt, he would still be barred from driving or owning a motor car. It is well to keep in mind that this penalty has nothing to do with the penalty for accident or who caused the accident. It has only to do with satisfying the judgment. A person who owns an automobile may not be within miles of the accident which caused the judgment, but he is still subject to the penalties of the law if the judgment is found

18 STATE PARKS TO REMAIN OPEN

P. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of state parks today announced a list of 18 state parks which would remain open to the public through the winter. All other state parks closed October 1.

The 18 state parks to remain open are: Dodge Bros. No. 4, Bloomer No. 2, Island Lake, Walter J. Hayes, Dodge Bros. No. 10 at Highland, Bay City, Hartwick Pines, Burt Lake, Interlochen and Muskegon in the lower peninsula and Dodge Bros., Munusong at Pickford, J. W. Wells and Fort Wilkins in the upper peninsula.

In all of these parks camping and picnicking equipment will be placed at the disposal of the public as long as weather conditions permit. However, there will be attendants in the parks throughout the winter and the public will be welcomed.

In other parks now closed, because of the property value and the fact that no caretaker will be available, the park gates will be closed until spring.

PROTECTION

In years gone by owners of swamp lands were greatly annoyed by the depredations of those entering and removing therefrom Christmas trees, evergreen boughs, bittersweet and holly. Efforts to curb this illegal practice have finally resulted in the passage of Act No. 124, Public Acts of 1933, known as the Perry Act, which makes it necessary for everyone transporting anything of this kind to be provided either with the original permit from the owner of the land, with the legal description of the premises mentioned therein, or else a certified copy thereof. The enforcement of this act is delegated to employees of the State Department of Agriculture, employees of the State Department of Conservation, the Michigan State Police and county, city, village and township officers. Anyone, therefore, seeing Christmas trees, evergreen boughs, bittersweet or holly on a truck or an auto and suspecting that they may have been illegally removed can readily have the matter investigated by seeking out any of the officials mentioned above and reporting the fact.

against him as an owner. It effects firms and corporations in the same manner. This part of the law further provides that no one can transfer a car to get around this penalty.

The second provision of the law is that any person, after he satisfies the judgment, must thereafter for three years put up proof of financial responsibility with the state, proof that he will be able to satisfy a judgment in future cases. This proof can be given the state by a deposit of $11,000 in cash, or by filing a bond for this amount or by filing an approved insurance policy with the state. This provision, of course, is not effective until after a judgment has been secured against the owner.

The third provision of the law is that any driver who has been convicted of a major traffic law in which his driving license is suspended for a period of time, then he too must file with the state, in the same manner as the preceding paragraph, proof of financial responsibility for a period of three years.

These are the principal and important parts of this new law of Michigan, that is an old law in other states. It compels no one to do anything that he has not done before, providing he does not have a judgment against him, and does not violate a major law, but if he does have a judgment against him, the penalties are drastic unless he pays that judgment. It is not an insurance law, but it will make thousands of people more insurance conscious. It vastly increases the importance of insurance protection and public officials in many of the states emphatically recommend that motorists keep liability and property damage in force.

PLACES WILDLIFE AS A CROP

The fact that enough people are interested in wildlife to make it practicable to collect license fees to service their interests, has placed wildlife into the status of a crop and Michigan is trying to treat it as such, Director George R. Hogarth of the Department of Conservation told the International Association of Fish, Game and Conservation Commissioners at its annual meeting held at Columbus, Ohio.

Director Hogarth's statement was made during a discussion held on the practical phases of lake and stream improvement.

Citing the artificial propagation of wildlife as an example, Director Hogarth said that no state conservation organization knows just how effective plantings of small fish have been. They cannot determine the actual return in pounds of fish and game for the money spent for wardens and law enforcement, the control of alleged predators, in artificial propagation and release, in the introduction of exotics, in refuges and public fishing or hunting facilities.

"We are beginning to suspect that there has been and still is a large disparity between the costs and the actual returns from these various activities; that many of them pay very little, or nothing at all, and that others are paying fair to good returns, and still others may be paying out wonderfully well."

"We are also beginning to realize that it is up to us, the official responsible officers through whom these millions of dollars are being invested, to get ourselves, and promptly, into a position to answer such questions and to do it with precise and dependable data which shall be entirely checkable and not mere brag or bluff."

The time has come when wildlife resources must be placed on a bona fide crop basis, Director Hogarth said, and that the various state organizations bring into bearing all the modern technology of crop management for which there is a precedent and experience in agriculture, in silviculture, in medicine and in engineering.

Michigan has started something of this kind, he said, in its rapid development of lake and stream improvement, when waters are made habitable for fish before the fish are planted; much as the soil is prepared before the crops are planted. Conditions are created in the waters to facilitate spawning, protection, more natural food and places to hide.

"The original or native conditions in a great many of our lakes and streams have been materially and unfavorably altered by the processes of civilization. We determine to what extent, in what manner, and we reverse the process. Or, we devise ways and means of lifting previous natural limitations by direct artifice."

In terminating his discussion of Michigan wildlife affairs Director Hogarth turned to the social aspect of wildlife, a question which he termed one of the most difficult of modern conservation problems, he said:

"Already the 'trespass' problem is a potent issue in Michigan and elsewhere. The state and federal courts are now troubled with such matters. Ultimately we shall have a new definition of public and private water rights. Which way will it go? In the end, I venture to predict, the right to go-a-fishing will not be alienated from the common man. Perhaps there will be room for private ownership of waters, perhaps not."

Director Hogarth was elected vice-president of the Association for the year 1934.

Some News Must Be Bad

"If you never gets anything but good news," said Uncle Eben, "it's a sign that somebody in your acquaintance ain't tellin' de truth."
